🎵 The Chassidic Jazz Project was formed by Reuben Hoch in 1998 to bridge a gap between Jazz and World Music

🎵 The CJP is dedicated to exploring the music of the Jewish people and bringing it to a larger audience by using jazz as a medium for musical expression. The resulting cross-cultural music is innovative in nature while respectful of tradition

🎵 The CJP is a sextet with an intriguing and unconventional instrumentation which includes viola and cello, creating a gorgeous chamber music effect

🎵 Blending together elements of jazz, fusion and new world, the CJP has created a unique multi-cultural sound with their imaginative interpretation of liturgical music

🎵 Some venues and events where the CJP have performed are at the New York Jewish Music & Heritage Festival, The Broward Center for the Performing Arts, The Hollywood Jazz Festival, Sunfest and The Miami Jazz Festival

🎵 The CJP released a live recording on RH Factor Records of a January 2001 performance at The Broward Center for the Performing Arts. This electrifying concert features the talents of Don Friedman and Bobby Thomas Jr.

🎵 The CJP's multi-cultural sound has opened the ears of fans of all types of music and ethnocultural backgrounds
